ADMISSION CONDITIONS

A Bachelor in Multilingual Communication from the FTI or another university, or another degree deemed to be equivalent. In addition, students must pass an entrance exam and have an excellent command of the languages in their chosen combination. They must also provide evidence that they have spent at least three months in a country where one of the passive languages in their chosen combination is the official language. Additional courses may be required depending on prior studies.

Master's Programme

THE MASTER IN CONFERENCE INTERPRETING

provides training in simultaneous and consecutive interpreting. This specialised programme also covers everything that budding interpreters need to know about parliamentary procedure, international organisations and interpretation theory. On-site learning is combined with online learning thanks to our state-of-the-art training portal. Students choose from a range of languages, selected with the requirements of the profession in mind, and work with cutting-edge communication technologies and top-of-the-range equipment. This ensures that they graduate from our Masters ready for a career in conference interpreting.
